I'll do it. This post is about a new tuning tool for pianos by Dirk, which is really cool. It's really easy to use and it has all the newest features, like instant sharing of tunings on the web. Dirk Piano Tuner V4.0 gets 5 out of 5 stars in all categories! Check out this article for more information: <http://www.propianoetunerreviews.com/dirk-piano-tuner-v4-0/>

> The post will be put up on my blog so people can get more info about it there. Will do. But I have a problem, this is not what I want. I did not use the same link as you did - which will be posted on your blog? Because .... I want a post in a blog.

> The post will be put up on my blog so people can get more info about it there. Can you please send me the link to your post? I'm sorry, but this isn't what I wanted to convey with the article. You should send me your complete article and then we can publish it here - without any changes in punctuation or text organization etc... The post will be published by us and you get all the traffic.

> The post will be put up on my blog so people can get more info about it there. Can you please send me the link to your post? if this is ok with you, I can do it now.

I sent you a link to my blog - but unfortunately your email was not recognised.

This is pre-edited text for this article. I just adjusted the punctuation and removed some unnecessary words that didn't fit into the post. Thank you, Dirk!

Thank You! I'll send you the complete outline of the text soon (in this way, we will send out 2 separate emails at once). Yes, I can do it now. Where did this article originate from and what was your motivation to write it?

Thank you! So we'll send out 2 separate emails at once.
